JAMP Pharma has been a Sales Talent Agency client for the past 2 years. During a time of rapid expansion within the organization Daniela has proven to be a tremendous asset in helping us build out our team with incredibly talented professionals. We have a very specific profile that, admittedly, is challenging for any recruiter to find however Daniela manages to continually deliver, filtering through countless candidates to zero in and bring us top talent. In a commodity industry the quality and drive of the people on the team is the only real differentiator - we rely heavily on our recruiting partners to truly understand our needs and quickly screen for the best candidates. Daniela routinely sends us professional, well prepared candidates all within our extremely tight timelines. It is clear by the level of organization and proactivity Daniela exhibits that she is a truly engaged business partner always keeping our short and long term goals top of mind. We look forward to our continued partnership long into the future.
