To Whom it May Concern,

Capital Economics engaged Sales Talent Agency, in particular the services of Haris Zeljkovic and Xander Ashton, to find professional sales people for Account Manager and Business Development roles in our Toronto Office.

Throughout the entire process from start to finish, Sales Talent Agency clearly demonstrated their expertise in recruitment. They took time to understand our business, our key requirements and objectives for the role and were a definite value-add for us as a business.

We received an appropriate number of pre-screened, quality candidates that were presented in a timely manner. Sales Talent Agency did a great job of making the whole process less time-consuming - from setting up interviews in our calendars, to providing comprehensive profiles from him screening candidates, to following up with our goals for our 2020 hiring needs.

Overall, Capital Economics was very pleased with the quality and quantity of the candidates that were presented, speed of response and the level of communication during our partnership with Sales Talent Agency.

If you are looking to grow your sales team, we recommend Haris, Xander, and the Sales Talent Agency team as a recruitment partner to any company.

Best Regards,
