To whom it may concern,

For the past year, Landsby has been partnering with Sales Talent Agency to grow our sales team. We have trusted our main point of contact, Laura Hopkins, with helping us make 3 critical hires in varying functions.

The success of our organization is determined by the quality of individuals we attract and it is imperative that we fill sales positions both quickly and effectively. We engaged with Sales Talent Agency to support us in an initial hire as we expanded the newest brand in our business. Laura presented individuals who not only met our expectations but truly exceeded them in less than a week. We have since continued to work with Laura for our next 2 hires and look forward to continuing our relationship as we continue to grow.

Laura has a deep understanding of the travel industry and is a great representation of our brand to the market. We have been impressed with her efficiency, and her determination to find us the perfect candidate for each position.
